For each question, the maximum number of maximum marks available is shown above.

- 1. No negative marking.
- 2. For questions with two correct options, both must be selected to gain marks; selecting only one or more than two results in zero marks.
- 3. For questions with a range of possible correct answers (2, 3, or 4), the approach does not require all correct answers to score marks, but selecting all five options results in zero marks. A partial marking method is used where:
 - Each correct answer selected earns 1 mark.
 - For example, if a question has three correct answers (A, B, C):
 - Selecting 1 correct answer (A) would earn 1 mark.
 - Selecting 2 correct answers (A, B) would earn 2 marks.
 - Selecting all 3 correct answers (A, B, C) would earn full marks (3 marks).
